It is too late to reach such! luen now We have only then to address ourselves for the last time to our colaborers in the "vingyard 'our compatriots in the good work of redeeming Mains from the blight and mildew of humbugs and experiments, and of proving to our sister States that she is no longer to be rank; ed among the supporters of the administrations rand its ruinous measures.

That the election of Monday next, involves consequences of the most momentous importance, need not now be subject of discussion. These consequences are both political, pecunia. ry, civil and moral, and are of a character to impress upon every Whig in the State the necessity of a vigorous struggle to prevent the furth er triumph of Van Burenism, and the ascendancy of agratian locologoism in the Executive and Logislative departments-of-our State govern-But will this struggle, if made, result in victory? Can the Whigs carry the State?

These are questions more easily, and much more certainly answered after Monday next, than before. We allknow that we have to contend The prospect is indeed a cheering one. The with a powerful and hitherto encoessful party, whe are thoroughly organized throughout the whole State, and who have on this occasion put hearty response. Will she do it? We would by no means encourage our friends to be sanguine of victory, friends and loes. but we would have them do their whole duty and leave the result to futurity. One thing however we can say with truth, and that is, that the prospect of the election of EDWARD KENT, the Whig candidate for Governor, has grown brighter and brighter every day since the nomination of the locoloco candidate, until are concerned, this present writing closes the if has become highly flattering, to say the least; so flattering indeed, that we say with every assurance that we are on safe ground, that should edly disappointed some, and displeased-others, Monday next, see every Whig in the State at ernor of Maine! How important then that measures be taken in every town in the State to ry low seurrility and abuse. It is true we have bring out our whole strength. We have urged this again and again, mouth after month, and we trust we shall find these admonitions have not been disregarded. Nothing but organization can accomplish our object, and where this has | not already been effected, the Wisigs of that troad; who will to the extent of his power mainplace should go immediately about it. There is no time to be lost. Remember, if we would elect EDWARD KEST Governor, we must be we are satisfied, that the great mass of our real mittees of vigilance in every town and every school district, to see that every Whig is in atcient supply of votes at the ballot box. This is to no faction; be awed by no dictation, but who sures and principles; that in devoting more exceedingly important and is never neglected by ince that are past and the present, instead of ministration, bringing rain and delress upon a his power to cause reads to be made through ing for us nothing but disgrace and reproach have taught very many of our people the neces sity of a change of men and measures, and they next. Let no man say; I am but one every which would promote all the begt interests of men is a host-upon the vote of a single individ ual may depend the result. Let no unreasonable causo keep any Whig from the hallot box ... No difficulties, except those absolutely insurpolls. Every Whig should feel it his honnden duty to devote the day to the cause of good principles and good government. How can he do less, and satisfy his conscience that he has discharged his dury to his country and his emiaren how can he do less, if he would do any.

> Fellow Whigs: We contend against fearful odds but let us contend manfully, and if vic-leel confident that we deserved it, and that our! failure was through no want of exertion on our part. We have every thing to encourage us.

The son of Whigism has arisen and shines with dazzling lustre in the for West. Its beams have spread all over our sister Ricore Island, and has even been extended to the Jar East. Washington and Hancock feel the invigorating influence, and shall not our whole state respond to the notes of triumph which have reached us from far and from near?

WHO IS GORHAM PARKS?

He is a strong purty man, who goes upon the principle that hall's fair in politics," and having been by turns attached to all parties, has become an adroit manager .- In a word, the Colonel has to recommend him for Governor the fact that he is a finished politician. He is a genuine loca foco, of the linest and most approved stamp, as has been proved by sundry affidavits which will be found corroborated by further testimony in our country paper to-day.

He is-a-men whose private-character [so says. Wm. Emerson and one hundred other democrats,] will not bear exposition !

He is a man who, when in the Legislature, voted to annul a plain provision of the Constitution of the State, and sacrificed the rights of the people to the good of party! This we have beretofore proved.

He is a man, who while in Congress, [as we have clearly shown] made himself the tool of party; placing himself between the Executive and the people as a shield for corruption and mismanagement. He is that citizen of Maine who alone stood up in Congress to advocate secrecy in relation to the proceedings on the North Eastern Boundary question to keep from the people the information which they were entitled to receive:

He is the man who forfeited the confidence of the people when he voted against distributing the surplus revenue, giving his reason for keep. my it in ratten pet havika, the fear that it wingle corrupt the people!

He is the man who professed so much regard for fortifications upon our coast, as to be willing to expend hundreds of millions apon them, and yet voted against the Fortification Bill of the last Congress, in which was included the forlification of the Penohacot river, merely because appended to this bill was a section giving to the people what mongy there might be left in the Frensury after their completion.

He is a man, who both from habit and association is totally unqualified for the office of Governor of the State, and who never could have received the nomination of a Convention of freemen, acquainted with his character. .

Such is GORHAM PARKS; we leave the reader whose character we have sketched above, only adding that any one doubting the faithfulness of tur representation, can ben and pour Tofullitie! with the man.
